Outlines Work of the

PRAISES RECEPTION GIVEN BY MIDDLESBORO CLUB

District Governor Charles C. Gilbert, of Nashville, outlining the work of the district the past year, and recommending that the club elect a district representative next year to relieve the district governor's duties, spoke to the convention session this morning. His address follows:

The honor which came to me last year when you elected me your district governor, and the confidence which you have shown in me during these months, and the fine cooperation you have given me, have weighed heavily upon me this year, as a great trust and a stewardship of which I must prove worthy. I come this morning to give an accounting of that stewardship.

And I know a year ago that the governorship of the Kentucky-Tennessee District carried with it such arduous labors and exacting responsibilities, I fear circumstances would have compelled me to have declined the honor, but so gradually did these duties dawn upon me that it left only one course for me to pursue, and that was to discharge the duties of the office as well and faithfully as circumstances would permit. I come before you, therefore, today, with a message of assurance that during this year I have striven as best I could to advance the interest of Kiwanis in our district.

During this period of time I have constantly kept my ear to the ground, not for expressions of approval or commendation, but for suggestions and criticisms, that I might better serve the district in every way possible. Many calls have come during the year, but invariably I have given the S. O. S. calls precedence over all others, and have gone where the advice and influence of the District Governor was needed most. During my term of office I have traversed the states of Kentucky and Tennessee lengthwise more than once, and have criss-crossed several times, only for the purpose of strengthening, stimulating and encouraging some Kiwanis clubs which needed such help from the district organization. During this period of time I have attended thirty-nine Kiwanis meetings, in addition to the thirty-one meetings of my own club, this not counting conventions, conferences and committee meetings. In addition to this personal visitation of clubs, I have attended five inter-city meetings, which have practically touched every club in the district. And in addition to all of this, I have kept up a rather regular correspondence with the presidents, secretaries, trustees and committee chairmen of the various clubs. I mention these things not for personal laudation, but to explain what I meant when I said, had I known what it meant to be district governor I could not have accepted.

Gratified by Activities

I wish that time would permit a detailed account, a photographic record, so to speak of the district's activities during the year, but the story is too long, and besides, you will get parts of it from the other officials who will be called upon to report. I want to say that the first statement I uttered after becoming District Governor was that I wanted Kiwanis in my district to be "Mountain Climbers." I wanted the clubs to get away from the commonplace activities of life and to launch out upon objectives with outstanding possibilities. I wanted each club to first do a definite piece of work, and I wanted that work to be of an outstanding nature. With this idea in view, I have gone over the district with practically the same message, that each club might first get the spirit of service, and second that insofar possible this service should be along the same line. I have emphasized in every meeting I have attended the two outstanding objectives of Kiwanis International, namely, "A Fair Deal To The Under-Privileged Child," and "A Closer Relation Between The

ANNOUNCES FOR COMMISSIONER

Judge J. E. Evans Says Today Noon
He Will Be Candidate for Office

Judge J. E. Evans announced at noon today that he would be a candidate for city commissioner. He is the first man to declare himself in line for the office. Petitions are now being circulated and applications for candidacy in the primary will be filed within the required time.

"I am for a bigger and better Middlesboro," Judge Evans said, "and I will run on a non-partisan ticket. I will do all in my power to make a successful administration." He said he had no definite program arranged to carry out in the event he is elected, but that he will do all in his power for the upbuilding of Middlesboro.

Mr. Evans was city judge here for eight years his term expiring six years ago. For the past 20 years he has been connected with the Log Mountain coal company.

HERE WEDNESDAY

Judge Dixon of Scottsville and Other Prominent Republicans Scheduled for Addresses

Judge Thomas B. Dixon of Scottsville, one of the most brilliant speakers in the state, will be in Middlesboro next Wednesday and will speak in the interest of the Republican state campaign. Major F. S. Helms will be the chairman of the meeting which will be held at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday evening in a specially erected stand on fountain square, if the weather is good and in the city hall if it is not. Several other good speakers are scheduled at this time. All are invited to this first public rally of the Republicans.

FOR KIWANIAN

Jules Brazil to Have Charge Amusement
Program—Special Features
Stunt Night

Delegates and visitors to the Kentucky-Tennessee district Kiwanis convention will be adequately entertained while in Middlesboro, as this part of the program has by no means been slighted.

The LaFollette band, consisting of twenty musicians, will be here both days of the convention. This band which makes a specialty of furnishing music at Kiwanis events is considered one of the best in the state.

Jules Brazil will first on the amusement program, as is announced elsewhere in this paper. Friday night will be "stunt" night and there will be a real show for Kiwanians or others who to attend. Boxes and logs will be occupied by Kiwanis officials and guests, the first floor will be taken by delegates and Kiwanis visitors while the balcony will be available for the use of the public. Those not delegates will be charged admission fees to the show.

One of the attractions of this night will be that furnished by the Lexington delegates. It will be a sketch entitled, "The Spirit of Kiwanis."

ATHENS, Sept. 27.—The island of Corfu, occupied by Italy August 31, was returned to Greek authorities this morning. It was announced in dispatches received here.

DOES "K" SIGNIFY
KIWANIS OR KU
KLUX, IS MYSTERY

In spite of the fact that the present district Kiwanis convention has been heralded through the press for many months and has been the talk of the members for weeks, there are some people in Middlesboro to whom the meaning of it was not clear. The large "K" emblem seemed to offer a false clue as to the identity of the members and the purpose of the organization. "I did not know you were a member of the Ku-Klux Klan," a customer told a business man early this morning.

"Why, I am not," he puzzled proprietor assured her. "Then why have you got that big 'K' here? Don't that mean you are a Ku-Klux member?" He explained the significance of the emblem to her and of the meeting of the district convention in Middlesboro. Others there are who believed that hooded K Klansmen had descended on the city and they would not have been surprised had the knights appeared in full uniform, shoe, pillow cases and all, on Cumberland avenue, with the Grand Dragon at the head.

It all goes to prove that the great value of publicity to all worthy and upbuilding clubs. In spite of the fact that the Kiwanis club has had a large share of this and that nearly every one reads the papers, the meaning of the "K" was misunderstood by a number of people and, needless to say, there are some who do not know of the great work the club has done in Middlesboro.

SAT. FIRST U. OF K.
FOOTBALL GAME

Wildcats Will Meet Marshall College on Stoll Field for Opening Match

By Associated Press.
LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept. 27.—With the University of Kentucky football team at the threshold of what is expected to be one of the greatest seasons in its history, Stoll field is humming with activity in preparation for the opening game with the "Big Green" or Marshall College which takes place Saturday, September 29.

In efforts to round out a championship eleven for the coming gridiron season, Head Coach Jack Winn and his assistants have spared neither their charges nor themselves. For the last three weeks the daily program of the wildcats has been one of the utmost intensity. Conditioning work, scrimmages, and practice in the various departments of the game have been loaded on the diligent candidates in large and strenuous quantities.

William "Doc" Kodes, former Wildcat star, has been placed in charge of the aspirants for backfield positions and is fast developing one of the cleverest backfields in the southland. In practice and scrimmage, the coaches have been using as backs, Brewer, Sanders and Gregg, veterans of last year's team, and Kirran, Rice, Hughes, Perlick and Evans, who occupied berths on last year's freshman eleven. Coach Winn, who is to fill the end positions will probably find that he has in Dell Ramsey, captain, and Kenneth King, the speedy freshman end of last season.

In the line it is only speculation as to who will land the regular positions. When formed, the forward wall will probably average 300 pounds. Pierrett Lee Pribble, former Wildcat captain, who is assisting Coach Winn in the line, is bent on making it in linebacker against the onslaughts of Centre, Alabama and Georgia Tech. The whole team is in splendid condition, and wildcat supporters have a strong confidence which is accentuated by expressions of admiration from visitors who have seen other teams go through their preliminary action.

In scrimmages, Coach Winn has used the following men in the line positions against the scrubs: Martin, Montgomery, Stevenson, Commark, Russell, McLean, Warren, McFarland, and Sauer. Even at this date, the line up which Coach Winn will send in against Marshall College is purely conjecture, but it is probably safe to assume that a tentative eleven will soon be drawn from the two dozen men Coach Winn has been using as the first team in the scrimmages.

FIVE TAKEN IN LIQUOR RAIDS

Federal Agents Take Gallon of Whiskey in Two Raids on Yesterday

Two men, three women and about a gallon of whiskey were netted in two raids staged by police, county and federal officers yesterday afternoon.

The place of R. C. Campbell, colored, on Nineteenth street, was raided first. W. B. Saylor and police officers constituting the raiding party. A half gallon of liquor was found in a rear room of the place in the same location where a quantity was found a few months ago. Campbell was arrested and taken to Pineville to appear before Commissioner J. T. Collins.

The rooms over the former Tash Manufacturing company building were raided at about the same time by Deputies D. C. Sellers, J. H. Miracle and Bill Lipps, special officer. Seven Coca-Cola bottles of whiskey were found at this place, concealed behind a dresser. Willie Thomas and Little Thomas, the proprietors of the place and Mary Turpitt and Dora Adams, all colored, the latter being inmates of the house, were arrested and will be tried before Justice Charles G. Smyth.

CHECK FORGER NO
ORDINARY CROOK

Police Believe Man Incarcerated Here
Has Record that Should be Investigated

What is believed by the police to be a crook of more than ordinary renown is held at the city jail on the charge of passing worthless checks. Memoranda in his possession indicate he has traveled widely. The stories he tells are conflicting, though it is obviously difficult to entrap him in cross examination.

He bought a hat at a local men's store and gave a check in payment. It was signed "J. V. Epps" and was drawn on the Holston National Bank of Knoxville and was for $6.50. He admitted that he had no account there but say this uncle, W. W. Epps there has an account and has given him permission to write checks. Investigations are being made to prove or disprove the existence of such a relative. Another check for $1 was passed.

A lot-book in his possession has the names of various towns, giving dates of arrivals and departures and similar travel data.

Two or three pages of the book are written in cipher, a mysterious, cryptic message, the import of which is not known. He also had a typewritten article in his pocket entitled: "Secrets of Love."

He is well-dressed handsome, fluent in speech and gives his age as 21. Extensive investigations into his record will be made by the police department.

OPENING MEETING WOMAN'S CLUB TO BE OCTOBER 22

The Woman's club will hold its opening meeting of the year October 22 at the club's rooms in the library building. The opening meeting has been postponed until this time as the women are waiting for the city to put this room in shape. This the city is about to do because of the poor condition it was left in last year after school had been held in it, but the work has not yet been done.

The district meeting of the Woman's Club will be held in Pineville November 2. A large attendance from here is expected there, as state officers of the club will be present and a big meet is planned.

ABOUT 500 VISITORS REGISTERED TODAY FOR DISTRICT KIWANIS CONVENTION; ALL SESSIONS
TODAY ARE WELL ATTENDED AND ENJOYED

Jules Brazil Makes Hit as Entertainer
—Governor Gilbert Gives Interesting Report, Others Heard
This Morning

COMMITTEES FOR CON-VENTION ANNOUNCED

The Kentucky-Tennessee District convention, anticipated for more than a year, is on in Middlesboro today, in full blast. About 500 Kiwanians had registered at convention headquarters by noon, this number including all Kiwanians and visitors but Middlesboro and Pineville ladies. The streets, automobile sand buildings, in festive dress, bid welcome to the visitors and every citizen in Middlesboro is lending a hand to prove the hospitality reputation of Kentucky. All public places, Fern Lake, the country club and like places have been given over to the Kiwanians with the keys of the city and everything points toward a most successful convention in every way.

The convention day was begun at 7:30 o'clock this morning with the Presidents' breakfast at the hotel Cumberland and the secretaries' breakfast at the Roomway Inn. The hour from 8 till 9, then was given over for the registration of delegates and visitors at headquarters at the Cumberland. Here each paid his fee and received his registration badge which admits him to all Kiwanis activities during his stay in this city.

At 9 o'clock, the LaFollette band, a musical organization from our neighbor Tennessee city, composed entirely of Kiwanians, gave a concert in front of the Cumberland and at 9:20 a. m. the band led a march of delegates and visitors to the Manning theatre where the convention sessions are being held.

Following this was a concert by the Indiana Screamers, an orchestra of unusual entertaining ability, who made a distinct hit with the visitors. Several of their acts were encored again and again. After the concert, the inimitable Jules Brazil, Canadian entertainer, took charge.

Jules Brazil Inimitable

Kentucky and Tennessee Kiwanians had heard of Jules and read of him, but he is one of the kind who have to be seen—and heard to be appreciated. His quick wit and repartee, his remarkable memory of faces and of names, his unequalled manner of handling his crowd and getting individuals to do as he wants them to, together with his wonderful talent as comedian, and character singer, have won him the deserved title of master entertainer, and his first appearance in Middlesboro certainly vindicated this title.

The convention was formally opened a little later with a short address of welcome by A. P. Liebig, president of the Middlesboro Kiwanis Club, who said that this club preferred to show rather than tell the visitors of their welcome. This was followed by the invocation by Rev. A. B. Reeves, pastor of the Christian church, after which Jules Brazil led in the singing of "America."

Jack T. G. Anderson then, in behalf of Mayor J. H. Kerhey, welcomed the visiting Kiwanians to Middlesboro, assuring them that the city was theirs, from the service of the hospital, the prescriptions of the doctors, and the aid of the jailer and police force to the spiritual service of the various ministers. He spoke briefly of Kiwanis accomplishments, saying, "I have recently become a convert to Kiwanis. After observing, with other Kiwanians for several years its activities here, I have looked upon it and pronounced it good. If the local club is a sample of the district and International Kiwanis, we are satisfied."

E. B. Todd of Elowah, Tenn., responded to this welcome, exclaiming as he did so Kentucky for its hospitality and its fast horses and beautiful women," and complimenting Middlesboro in glowing terms for its beauty, its industry and the progressiveness of its citizens and expressing the hope that the host might be as pleased with its guests as the guests were with their host. "It is not the keys to your jails or to your bootleggers' homes that we want," he said, "but rather the ambition of the different individuals in the great stream of humanity pouring into the cities and makes the civic life of the community flourish with the unified activity of the people."

Charles C. Gilbert, district governor, then took charge of the meeting and called upon the district governors for reports. J. O. Mathewson of Division 1, H. N. Lukens of Division 2, W. M. Charlin of Division 6, and George C. Murray of Division 7, responded, each praising the work of the clubs in his division and each lauding in highest terms the work of the district governor.

Following this Boyd Ford, district secretary, gave a review of the work of the clubs of the district, praising them for their accomplishments but recommending several changes. His report in full is published elsewhere in this edition.

Governor Gilbert then spoke on the work of the club from his standpoint pointing out the constructive work and worthwhile program which had been carried out in all of the clubs.

He urged, however, not to slacken their work, and, in closing, recommended that they elect next year a field representative as an all-time man on a salary to look after district affairs.

Present Ford With Watch

John Skain, district treasurer, then made a short report on district finances. Committees were then announced by Boyd Ford and H. P. Liebig made announcements in regard to the entertainment of the visitors for the remainder of the convention. Just at the close of this session, Governor Gilbert, in behalf of the 46 clubs of this district, presented to Boyd Ford a solid gold watch, on the back of which was engraved "From Kentucky-Tennessee District to Boyd Ford, for efficient service. Middlesboro, Ky., September 27, 1923."

The meeting then adjourned to go to their respective places for luncheon the women to the Roomway Inn, the presidents secretaries and trustees to the grill room of the Cumberland and the other Kiwanians to the dining room of the Cumberland. The afternoon session was convened at 2 p. m.

Committees appointed at the close of the session follow: Nominating committee—J. A. Stucky, Lexington; Henry Colby, Memphis; Jim Jarvis, Barbourville; Henry Lourey, Chattanooga; F. W. Powers, Ashland; W. E. Peters, Knoxville; H. I. Carpenter, Jenkins.

Credentials committee, L. D. Hill, of Middlesboro; P. D. Farrell, Memphis; Jack Hustell, Winchester; E. G. Price, Morristown; R. E. Samuels, Pineville. Award of press publicity committee, Roe Fulkerson, Jules Brazil and Charles Gilbert.

Resolutions committee, J. B. Gore, Louisville; G. G. Fiskant, Clarksville; J. S. Thomas, Hopkinsville; A. F. Tipperian, Nashville; A. E. Serenges, Herod.

Roe Fulkerson, Speaker

At the noon luncheon today for delegates and visitors to the Kiwanis convention who were not included in the officers' luncheon, George Murray, vice president of the Chattanooga club and lieutenant governor of division 7, of the district presided. Roe Fulkerson, editor of Kiwanis magazine, made the principal address. It was a presentation of the Kiwanis ideal, in which he stated he was unable to define in all of Kiwanis' experience and development.

"Kiwanis projects upon the community the mind and spirit of the individual, just as a motion picture machine projects the picture represented in the film upon the screen" he stated. "It is an accurate picture of all that is forward looking and progressive in the individual members. It reminds me of Lost River, that stream in the west which is made up of thousands of rivulets coming down from the hill sides and gathering into one great stream which flows about five miles in the dusty sands of the desert and then is lost. A few years ago the government built a great dam on the river and the water, thus stored up as the rose, fields of growing crops around and the region has been turned into an agricultural paradise."

"Kiwanis is just like that," he continued. "It gathers up the ideals and the ambition of the different individuals in the great stream of humanity pouring into the cities and makes the civic life of the community flourish with the unified activity of the people."

Mr. Fulkerson captured the crowd of jolly Kiwanians with his brisk and powerful presentation of his subject and with his inimitable stories. At the close of his address, he was greeted with prolonged applause which brought him to his feet again for another of his stories.

Jules Does His Part

Jules Brazil, the official entertainer, for the convention, kept the crowd full of spirit and song. His quick repartee and his ability to provide improvised amusement for the occasion won the enthusiastic approval of every person present.

Edmund F. Arras, International Kiwanis president, and Gus Dyer of the Vanderbilt University, Nashville, were the principal speakers at the president and secretary luncheon in the Hotel grill room at 12:30.

President Arras stressed the importance of living up to Kiwanis ideals and particularly of conducting a convention in a proper manner. He spoke of a convention in a western city where two doors were torn from a hotel and one man almost killed. Such things never happen at Kiwanis conventions, he stated.

He declared that hints as to how prohibition laws may be evaded should not be made in welcome addresses at Kiwanis conventions, even in a humorous way.

He praised the work of Boyd Ford, district secretary and Charles Gilbert, district governor, saying there no Kiwanis officers more capable, in the world.

Dr. Dyer brought out some original ideas in his speech as to what constitutes a real man. It is more difficult than ever to be a real man now, as social classification is fixed almost entirely by the amount of money men seem to have. It is hard for business men to live up to this but a real man should try to live up to it.

Banquet at 7 p. m. this club, was chairman of the meeting. Several rousing songs were led by Jack Hustell. The meeting was opened by prayer by Dr. Rhea.

The banquet will be held at 7 o'clock tonight in the Middlesboro Motor company building, just opposite the Hotel Cumberland. At this time International President E. F. Arras will speak on "Kiwanis Ideals and Purposes," and Gus Dyer will speak on "Responsibility for Leadership Under Our For most Government." There will be special music and singing led by Jules Brazil. Following this there will be dancing until 1 a. m. at the Hotel Cumberland. All members and their wives and specially invited guests are invited to this banquet.

Tomorrow will be a true "stunt" breakfast of 7:30 o'clock at the Hotel Cumberland. At 9:00 Kiwanians will convene at the Manning Theatre where they will hear an address by Roe Fulkerson on "Personality in Business." Following this there will be short talks by various presidents of the club on "The Chief Accomplishment of My Club during the Year." George Selig, International field representative will then talk on "Club Formation."

At 2 p. m. the last business session will be held when the club accomplishments will be finished up by their respective presidents. Report of committee will be heard and district governor and lieutenant governors will be elected.

At 2 p. m. every one will take an automobile ride to Pineville, where they will be entertained, returning tomorrow night for "stunt night" the climax of the convention, at the Manning theatre. An auto ride into Virginia is planned for the ladies at 9:30 o'clock in the morning.

Miss Stella Deyerlee and Oscar Deyerlee, of Atlanta, Ga., were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gargle this week.

COMPLETE STREET PROGRAM FOR CITY

When Finished Middlesboro Will Have One of Best Systems in Country

Six blocks have already been completed by the Humbard Construction company in the large program of the street construction which Middlesboro has adopted for this year. Work is now being concentrated on the East Cumberland Avenue corridor and on Young, Fourth and Fifth streets.

When the work is finished Middlesboro, which has boasted for her streets in the past, will have one of the finest street systems in the country, including a straight three-mile drive almost mountain to mountain, down Cumberland Avenue. The wide, straight way in which the streets were originally laid out will aid the perfection of the system.

SECRETARIES MEET THIS MORNING

C. A. Blackburn Welcomes Guests—Round Table Discussion of Problems Held

The secretaries of the various Kiwanis clubs in the Kentucky-Tennessee district met for a round table discussion of club problems. C. A. Blackburn, Middlesboro Kiwanis secretary, gave an informal welcome to the secretaries on behalf of the local club and Fred Ford spoke briefly, expressing appreciation for the cooperation he had during the year from secretaries of local clubs.

Two problems were taken up by the secretaries in particular. The first was the matter of extra assessments for club members and it was proved that all were agreed to such; and the other was the matter of resolution of directors and the necessity of the club to be able to

RECOMMENDS RELIEVE DUTIES OF GOVERNORS

Man or The Farm And The Man In The City." I am gratified beyond measure to see every club adopt these two objectives and immediately set in motion the machinery to make them the outstanding features of their activities during the year. Scarcely any club in the district has failed to accept the Underprivileged Child activity as the pre-eminently outstanding work of the club, and today we have every club devoting a considerable portion of its time to this cause, with telling and gratifying results.

The other activity, that brings the farmers and townspeople into a closer relation is likewise being accepted by every club where deemed advisable feasible. In other words, we have clubs in some sections of the State, where farming is negligible, and for that reason other objectives must be selected but among these clubs located in farming sections the recommendations of Kiwanis International that a certain number of farmers be elected into full club membership has been adopted, and a tremendously important piece of work is being done, in that the imaginary barrier between the man on the farm and the man in town is being broken down, and the two elements of our citizenship are being welded permanently together through the instrumentality of Kiwanis.

Work for Good Roads

Another purely district objective which has been promulgated by our district officers is that of good roads. Everybody where we have gone, both governor and lieutenant governors, we have talked not alone the importance but the necessity of permanent highways. In order that the Kiwanis Club might become more keenly interested, we have advocated the neighborly spirit in Kentucky and Tennessee and have urged that everything possible be done to build a permanent highway linking up the Kiwanis Clubs in the two states. Each club in the district has a good roads committee, and these committees are losing an opportunity to emphasize the necessity of highway construction in the two states. We have repeatedly called attention to the highway propositions now before the people in Kentucky and Tennessee, namely, the fifty million-dollar bond issue in Kentucky and the seventy-five million dollar bond issue in Tennessee, and while I, as district governor, have purposely avoided endorsing either of these movements, I have asked each club to investigate for itself, and if such a bond issue is the correct method of highway financing, then by all means give the movement approval and assistance. Speaking personally, however, I want to say that I am constantly urging the Kiwanis Clubs of the district that before bonds are issued for any purpose, careful and intelligent consideration should be given the same. In other words, I think the time is here when business and professional men should give serious thought to questions of this kind. Surely, we are issuing too many bonds and are getting too little returns for same, and it is from this angle that I urge your thorough investigation and careful consideration before giving approval.

For Better Citizenship

Another objective that we are emphasizing with all possible strength is that of citizenship. Many communications have been addressed to the various clubs along this particular line. If we accomplish nothing more as Kiwanis clubs in our district during this year than to center our minds and attention even for a brief period of time on this most important subject, we have not labored in vain. We have forty-six clubs in this district, composed possibly of 3400 men, each man outstanding in his business or profession in his community. Throughout these months, as district officers we have striven to impress upon these men the responsibility of citizenship and leadership. We first want Citizenship in the fullest meaning of that term. We want Kiwanians to be loyal, and evidence that loyalty by a more liberal participation in public affairs. We have emphasized the necessity of voting, of discriminate voting, espousing the cause of men who by their elevation to office would render efficient service. It is appalling to find out what a small percentage of that class of our citizenship best qualified to vote exercise that privilege. The least qualified portion of our citizenship vote in great numbers, and as we see and have urged that everything possible be done to build a permanent highway linking up the Kiwanis Clubs in the two states. Each club in the district has a good roads committee, and these committees are losing an opportunity to emphasize the necessity of highway construction in the two states. We have repeatedly called at-tion to the highway propositions now before the people in Kentucky and Tennessee, namely, the fifty million-dollar bond issue in Kentucky and the seventy-five million dollar bond issue in Tennessee, and while I, as district governor, have purposely avoided endorsing either of these movements, I have asked each club to investigate for itself, and if such a bond issue is the correct method of highway financing, then by all means give the movement approval and assistance. Speaking personally, however, I want to say that I am constantly urging the Kiwanis Clubs of the district that before bonds are issued for any purpose, careful and intelligent consideration should be given the same. In other words, I think the time is here when business and professional men should give serious thought to questions of this kind. Surely, we are issuing too many bonds and are getting too little returns for same, and it is from this angle that I urge your thorough investigation and careful consideration before giving approval.

Local Activities

The district officers have advocated local activities on the part of every club this year, these activities to be worked out by the individual club, but suggestions have been made with reference to Clean-up Days, and campaigns, The City Beautiful Idea, The Widening of Streets, and City Zoning. In carrying out objectives of this kind, a Kiwanis Club is not only rendering a most acceptable service to the community, but it is undertaking something to be participated in by every member of the club, and, after all, that is the secret of success of a Kiwanis Club. I have urged as far as possible that every member of every club be placed on some committee, and that a committee chairman be made responsible for the activities of his group.

I have this year urged each club to adopt one or more permanent local objectives. This is done to prevent sporadic efforts and the loss of valuable time. Too often the incoming administration spend weeks and months looking for club activities different from the previous administration. It is to prevent waste of time and effort that I am urging permanent activities, so that a new administration can take up the work where the other administration left off, and in that way have no cessation of work. In other words, that I am urging is a constructive program on the part of each club in the district.

From the report of the secretary and lieutenant governors you will not that we have grown this year, having chartered eight new clubs in the district, with at least four more clubs, so far underway that they will be chartered within the next few weeks. This has been a rather gratifying growth, and yet I must add that little attention has been given by your governors to the building of new clubs. It has been our belief that if the present clubs are active and functioning properly, the desire for new clubs on the part of other communities will come as a natural development. We have therefore devoted our energies to stabilizing the established clubs and assisting them on the road to greater achievement.

Good Work of Clubs

I wish that time would permit a word from me concerning the activities of the various clubs. I have kept in constant touch with every club in the district this year. I know what is going on on the part of all of them, and I cannot imagine clubs being in a more healthy condition than are those in our district. Far from perfection, to be sure, but with every club on the right path, striving to reach a higher goal, must eventually bring results, and that is the condition in which we find the clubs in this district.

I cannot close my report without commending to you the faithful service rendered by the lieutenant governors, who have served with me this year. They have been given a specified territory, with unlimited authority, and faithfully and well have they discharged their obligations to you for the honor conferred on them in the last convention. In connection with the lieutenant governors, I want to say that even before I assumed the governorship I found that the district covered so much territory that in order to accomplish satisfactory results there must be a division of responsibility and a grouping of clubs. For this purpose, the district was divided into eight sub-divisions, with a lieutenant governor placed in charge of each. These lieutenant governors have kept in constant touch with the clubs in their district and have rendered to the clubs a most beneficial and satisfactory service. So successful has this plan been that I earnestly hope that it will be continued as a permanent arrangement in this district.

Distinguished Visitors

To Boyd Ford, our efficient secretary, and who, by the way, has been secretary and treasurer, owing to the fact that our treasurer has been abroad most of the year, too much credit cannot be given. Secretary Ford has been a most loyal and beneficial co-worker. His knowledge of district affairs, his personal acquaintance throughout the district, and his loyalty to the cause have been most helpful, and it is due to his that I say to you that the district has been fortunate in having him for secretary.

I know you will share with me my gratification over the magnificent preparation which the host club has made for this convention. Their promises were many, but these have been far exceeded by their performances, and we are entering upon the first session of a convention promising to be memorable in the history of the Kiwanis district. Likewise, I am sure you will rejoice with me over the full cooperation given the district this year by Kiwanis International. We are singularly honored by having with us International President Arras and Mrs. Arras, and also Roe Falkerson, the very human editor of the Kiwanis Magazine. To these three distinguished guests, and others who perchance might be in our midst, including our good friend Gus Dyer, who has during the year edited, entertained and delighted so many Kiwanis meetings throughout Tennessee, we give royal welcome, and facilitate ourselves upon our good fortune in having them.

For Field Representative

In conclusion, I want to make one recommendation. Kiwanis is a constructive organization. It is doing a wonderful work in its several communities. What we have endeavored to do this year is to forge the links into a permanent chain. This cannot be done without personal representation and presentation of many matters before the clubs. As district governor, I have given too much time to Kiwanis in justice to other interests which demand my time. I am therefore, after this year's experience, recommending that the district secure the services of an all-time man as district field representative, that he might be the personal representative of the governor and respond to at least part of the calls made on the governor during the year. I would recommend that this field representative visit every club in the district during the year, many of them more than once, and bring to the clubs a constructive message outlining the objectives of Kiwanis International and of the district, and also tell the club and the board of directors how other clubs are accomplishing results along the same line. I have found that in my visitation of clubs, a more ready response is received from a personal presentation of matters than by means of written request. The one obstacle in the way of having a permanent representative is that of finances. Under the present arrangement the district income would not justify such an expenditure, but with the good to be accomplished I am bold enough to recommend that the district dues be increased from one to two dollars per capita, and that this extra sum be used in the employing of an all-time man. As it is now, each club is assessed two dollars per capita for Kiwanis International, one dollar for Kiwanis Magazine subscription, and one dollar for the expense of the district, making a total of four dollars per member. I do not believe any club would object to raising an additional dollar per capita in order to more thoroughly and efficiently carry on the work of the district. I leave the thought with you at this time, with the hope that after you have considered it, we might bring up for further consideration and if deemed advisable we will undertake to put it into effect.

I want to thank the officers of every club in the district for the unstinted and loyal support given me this year. My only regret now is that I was unable to visit every club here. (Continued on Page 6)

THINKING!

If you think you are beaten you are,
If you think you dare not you don't;
If you like to win, but you think you can't,
It's almost a cinch you won't.

If you think you'll loose you're lost,
For out of the world we find,
Success begins with a fellows will—
It's all in the state of mind.

If you think you are outclassed you are;
You've got to think high to rise
You've got the be sure of yourself
Before you can ever win a prize.

Life's battles don't always go
To the stronger or fastest man,
But sooner or later the man who wins
Is the one who THINKS he can.

Think of us more; try to remember us more.

At any moment you need us.

Then you will want the BEST.

EVOLUTION OF KIWANIS ONE OF INTEREST

Began in Detroit in 1915 Without Purpose, Club Shows Remarkable Growth Throughout All America

KIWANIS IDEALS ARE WHAT MAKE SUCCESS

All organizations must have a beginning and Kiwanis is no exception to this rule. How it began and why it began is of small significance as compared with the outstanding fact that it did begin. The first group of men assembled under the name of Kiwanis met in Detroit, Michigan, in January, 1915.

Few organizations, if any, enter upon their career with a scheme of organization so complete that subsequent growth will not require that serious revisions be made. Even the Constitution of the United States, a document of marvelous flexibility and the produce of uncanny foresight on the part of its framers, has been amended eighteen times.

No evidence exists to show that any national or international organization of Kiwanis clubs was contemplated by those associated with the establishment and leadership of the first club. In other words, the present Kiwanis scheme of organization is a product of evolution. Our international constitution, the by-laws of the district or organizations and the standard by-laws of our local clubs are the products of the experience of the three units of our organization plan.

No Definite Objective

Strange to say that the Kiwanis movement grew without any conscious acceptance of any definite objective—without any statement of ideals, aims and purposes whatever. When a certain officer of the international organization entered upon his duties, he found every Kiwanis club seeking to find some definite expression for the Kiwanis idea. For three and a half years the Kiwanis movement had been growing—growing in spite of its lack of a definite objective understood and accepted by the entire membership.

The Ideals of Kiwanis

Kiwanis ideals are the product of the collective idealism of those busy, practical men who are Kiwanians. Kiwanis ideals are an expression of the inner hopes, ambitions and desires of average business men. These hidden, unexpressed but fundamental reactions of the human soul are the very fabric of life itself. They are the product of the moral and spiritual evolution of mankind. Those reactions are the hidden signs of that struggle in which every man engages, seeking to apply his philosophy of life to his duties and privileges as a member of society.

The last twenty-five years have witnessed a wonderful development of the social consciousness. The average man of today has an indefinitely greater appreciation of his fellow-men, a more adequate understanding of his obligations as a citizen and a more vivid realization of his responsibility to society than had his father before him.

Kiwanis, first brought to the business man as only a luncheon club, proved the means by which he might satisfy his hunger for fellowship and invest his life in practical service. Kiwanis requires the aspects of a movement only when Kiwanians, without any suggestion or direction whatever, unconsciously used it as a vehicle by which they could express their real selves. The unusual spirit of fellowship and the quality of manhood represented in Kiwanis rendered the organization of fitting emissary of a great idea.

Kiwanis is leaving a spiritual renaissance in which the business man is finding his own soul. He finds in Kiwanis an organization in which he can make application of principles which before seemed to theoretical and impractical as to be apart from the realities of human experience.

The Kiwanian accepts a new motive for life—service to his fellow-men. The Golden Rule takes on a new significance when translated into terms of daily experience. To the true Kiwanian his business or profession provides not only a means for earning a livelihood but also a means by which he may serve society.

There is nothing new about the Kiwanis idea—it is as old as the soul of man, but ideals has put the breath of life into old ideals by translating them into terms which the average man may appreciate.

GUS DYER

Gus Dyer of Nashville, Tenn., who will speak to the Kiwanians at the luncheon tomorrow noon and again at the banquet tomorrow night, is one of the outstanding characters in Tennessee. Mr. Dyer has the chair of political economy in Vanderbilt University, but devotes a great amount of time to public affairs, especially to public speaking. He has contributed much to the welfare of Tennessee by his work, and is noted for always being on the right side of every progressive movement. Mr. Dyer is considered undisturbedly the finest orator in the south, and Middlesboro is indeed fortunate to have him here for the convention.

GUS DYER

FARM AND HOME NEWS FROM OVER KENTUCKY

With the first limestone pulverizer ever used in MeLean county at work crushing stone for farmers, definite steps have been taken to make use of the limestone rock found in the county for building up farm lands, a report from County Agent Robert H. Ford says.

Approximately 800 sheep in Washington county flocks have been treated in demonstrations put on this fall by County Agent R. M. Heath and local veterinarians to show farmers and sheep raisers in that section of the state how to rid their flocks of stomach worms, said to be the worst parasite of the sheep industry in the state.

More than 170 Grayson county chicken owners already have learned the method of weeding out the poor layers in their flocks by means of demonstrations put on by County Agent R. W. Secor and the extension division of the College of Agriculture at Lexington to show them how to go over their flocks at this time of the year and pick out the hens that have quit laying to loaf until spring. Two hundred and twelve of the 750 hens handled in the demonstration were thrown out as culls because they showed the characteristic signs of being poor layers.

The purchase of four registered rams and six registered ewes by Lincoln county farmers marks the increased interest which farmers in that section of the county are taking in improved livestock, County Agent L. C. Pace says in a report.

Limestone is increasing in favor as a soil builder among Whitley county farmers, according to County Agent O. L. Corn, who reports that four carloads recently have been ordered by farmers to be delivered this season.

The Middleboro Kiwanians have made a fine record in their three years of existence. The organization has grown from a small group of men to a large and active body. The members have worked hard to improve the community and to help the less fortunate. The organization has been successful in many of its projects and has earned the respect and admiration of the people of Middleboro. The future of the organization is bright and full of promise.

NOT many of us can remember the homes of Mid-Victorian formality. If we could, we would recall formal, almost forbidding drawing rooms with stiff looking furniture overly decorated.

Today, that formal drawing room has transformed itself into a Living Room that breathes cheer and comfort Formality and ornateness have been replaced by simplicity, richness and comfort in the modern home. And it is furniture of this description, of dependable quality, that we are offering you today at the most reasonable prices.

RESPONSIBILITY FOR CONVENTION

Realizing that the real value of a community is determined by the quality of its education, the Middlesboro School System has been the first in the state to adopt the remedial system.

Under the leadership of J. W.
Bridger, who is now entering his second year as superintendent of the city schools, the efficiency of the school system has been improved by the adoption of the remedial system. Mental, physical, and athletic development of the pupil is the aim of the superintendent.

The completion of the new high school building, recently built, is one of the greatest achievements of the school system. The building is the largest in the state and is the first of its kind in the south. It is a masterpiece of architecture and is a credit to the city of Middlesboro.

The building is light and airy throughout and is one of the most beautiful in the state. It

"We Build"

¶ The vital, living, significant meaning of Kiwanis in its slogan—"We Build"—is exemplified in our service as Middle-boro's three builders. We build homes, we erect factories, we produce a growing and progressive Middle-boro through our supply of building materials.

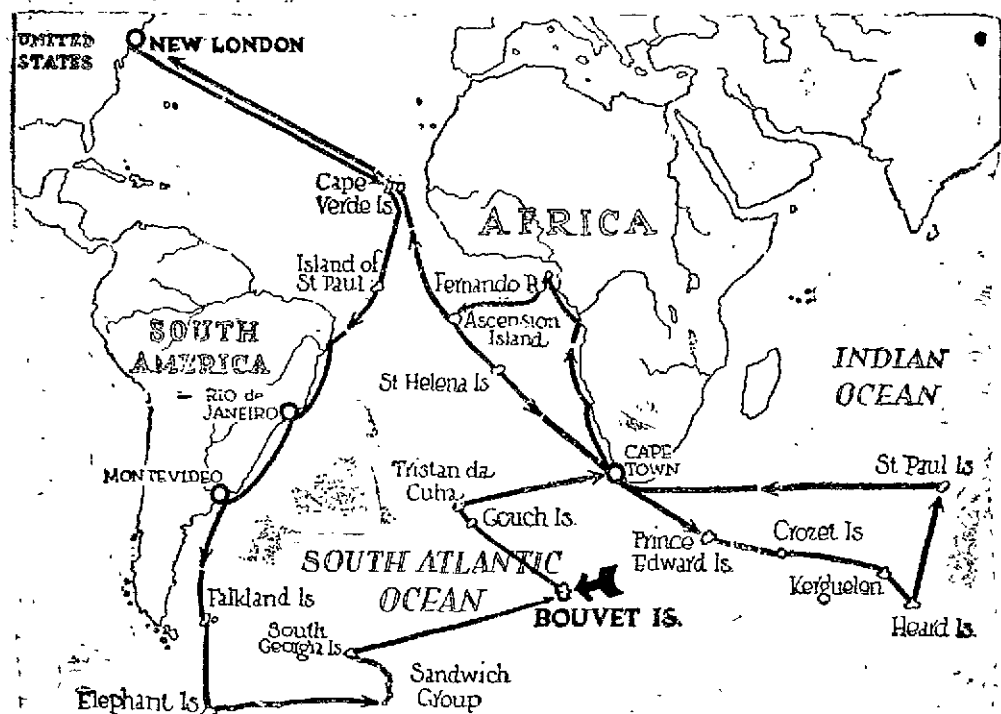

¶ We greet you, Kiwanians, with a hearty welcome, because we recognize fully the inestimable value of Builders in the great commonwealths of Kentucky and Tennessee. As you view the beautiful homes in our splendid city, you will see embodied our spirit of building, our watchword of service.

"MYSTERY ISLAND" IS TO BE EXPLORED FOR FIRST TIME BY EXPEDITION IN OCT.

MAP SHOWS ROUTE EXPEDITION WILL TAKE. RIGHT IS THREE-MASTED SCHOONER BLOSSOM, MEN WILL USE.

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 24.—"Bouvet!"

Mention that word to a hardened mariner. Watch him grow a shade whiter.

For "Bouvet," mystery island of the South Atlantic ocean, has baffled, so many as is known, all attempts at exploration, all efforts of civilized white men to plumb its secrets.

On or about the coming October 15, 16 adventurous souls will point the nose of a three-masted schooner toward Bouvet, and the myriad of other romantic and Indian oceans, about which folks know so little.

These men commanded by George Finlay Simmons, will leave New London, Conn., in the interests of science, sailing under the colors of the Cleveland Museum of Natural History, they will be gone two long years.

They will visit many places, gather many natural specimens, see strange sights—but nothing so intriguing as the imagination as their contemplated and determined exploration of Bouvet, mystery island.

About two years ago Paul Marshall had conceived the idea of a greater museum for this city. His idea expanded to rapidly, he now is ready to undertake a $10,000 expedition in a vessel that costs $25,000, merely for the purpose of insuring something worth while for the Ohio metropolis.

A few buildings will be furnished by the time the expedition returns in two years. And Cleveland promises to have an institution rivaling its famous "competitor"—the Museum of Natural History of New York City.

What the 16 men will find on Bouvet they do not even profess to guess. Whether they will find it is in itself a question.

When others approached it, it seemed to vanish in vapor. And yet, despite the repeated failure of mariners to land on Bouvet, seafaring men are positive such a place exists.

It is about a thousand miles southwest of Cape of Good Hope. The legend goes that the Frenchmen, for whom the island is named, and two others are the only ones ever to locate it. And it is not certain they were able to land, for no record of what they found ever came back to the world.

It is the question mark of the seas, fully as mysterious as "Island X," the brain-child of a novelist in a recent effort.

Many other islands will be visited, probably 50 in all—Carnaudora, Trinidad, the Sandwich group, Kerguelen and many more.

In all probability 30,000 miles will be traveled. That could only be a guess, though Commander Simmons explains. The winter season will be spent in Africa, with Cape Town as the base of operations.

In two years the expedition will return.

And the members aboard, many scientists from various sections of the country included, firmly believe they will have added a new chapter to science of America.

H. C. Chappell

H. C. Chappell, editor of Three-States, a weekly newspaper, is a leader in civic affairs and a loyal Kiwanian. As an editor and citizen he is ever ready to champion any cause which he deems right and just. Mr. Chappell served a term in the Kentucky House of Representatives and is identified with the prominent Republicans in this section.

CONVICT NEARLY GETS AWAY IN DISGUISE

"KID" COLE

LINCOLN, Neb., Sept. 24.—Julian Elzing and all theatrical impersonators beware. You have a rival.

"Kid" Cole, serving a life term in the Nebraska penitentiary for killing an Omaha pawnbroker, recently came within an ace of walking out his doors as one of a group of country people who had just finished touring the institution.

He had dressed himself up in a woman's costume he had designed and made himself an odd moment out of bits of material he had stolen from the upholsterer and chair shop in prison, where he worked.

Caught

Cole, in his disguise, had allowed himself to be caught with the crowd through the larger part of the prison by a bevy of "hard-boiled" guards who never noticed he was not a woman. He had the ill-luck, as the crowd was being filtered out, to come under the eagle eye of Deputy Warden Kavanagh, who recognized him even under his paint and powder and in his feminine rig.

Prison officials give him credit for tremendous cleverness in the preparation of his woman's disguise. It was perfect in every detail, and in nine cases out of ten would have won him his way out.

He had perfected a good-looking hat of cardboard, wire and chair finishings; made a wig out of the fine black hair used in the better upholstering jobs; swiped from the store room of the prison theatre a pair of women's black oxfords and tinted them brown to go with the color scheme he had laid out; fashioned a pair of women's stockings out of the sleeves of a discarded brown silk jersey; made a corset of blue satin chair backing and fitted with dozens of eyelets taken from army shoes on the junk pile; carried a brown handbag; made a neat-looking gown out of mercerized brown lining in chairs.

"Clever"

When and where he did the painstaking work necessary, the prison officials do not know.

They say it was the cleverest effort in the history of the prison in the way of attempted escapes. Evidently the man had prepared the costume weeks in advance, and selected this date because during state fair week hundreds of country people take the opportunity to visit the state penitentiary. These are conducted thru in groups of hundreds by detachments of guards. Cole dressed in a sequestered corner, and as the procession passed him, joined it.

STOCK EXCHANGE TO FIGHT CRITICS

Will No Longer Content Selves With Mere Appearances, Says President

By Associated Press

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 24.—The New York Stock Exchange intends to fight its critics publicly and not content itself with mere appearances through its legal representatives, Seymour L. Cromwell, president of the Exchange, declared here today in an address prepared for delivery before the Clearing House Section of the American Bankers' Association. "We are tired of the abuse and lies which are daily hurled at the Exchange," he said, "and while we do not intend to reciprocate in kind, we do intend that every item of information in our possession which will enlighten the public concerning the men who are attacking us, concerning their methods, their purposes, their records and their objects, shall be given to the public."

"If an office holder stops long enough at the Grand Central Station to call up the president of the Exchange and tell him that he wants a certain thing done for someone, contrary to the rules of the Exchange, and that he wants a answer in 15 minutes because his train leaves for Albany, where he is going to look into the bill aimed at the Stock Exchange, we shall consider that threat an item of news and give the gentleman's name and his threat to the newspapers."

"If another office holder, who has a retaining fee from a notorious bucket shop, calls us up and gives us seven minutes in which to restore the wires to that bucket hop, under threat of political reprisal at Albany, we shall give that gentleman's name and a record of the conversation to the public, with such other details as the facts may warrant. Again, if the author of a bill which was designed to put the Exchange out of business comes to us and asks for a retaining fee to that he may testify that he has investigated the Exchange and found it perfectly all right, we shall be glad merely to deny the gentleman the retaining fee as we have done, but to give his name, business, post office address, and other facts which will be of interest undoubtedly to the public. Furthermore, if any man, whether he be public official or not, holding high place or not, writes to the governors of the New York Stock Exchange or to its president, demanding, with overt threat, that certain bucket shops shall have our wires, we shall publish these letters no matter whether the political position of the gentleman in question, be high or low. This is desirable not from our own point of view, but from the necessity and desirability of advising these gentlemen's conferees as to the character of men with whom they are associated. "The Stock Exchange will continue to fight bucket shops and it will fight those affiliated with bucket shops who seek to make money out of the power given the only their political connections. Do not think that I am attacking political parties or the great body of public men who are giving their time and earnest effort to the work of government. The state on New York has in its Legislature men of the highest type and in its other public offices men equally impeccable. It is not political parties with which I quarrel but political pirates and those hangers-on of politics who are mixed up with politics and interfere with law enforcement. The political hanger-on knows no party and the public official who is spineless in the enforcement of the law is usually the one who makes gratuitous, purposeless and rabble rousing attacks on decent men and decent institutions. Public officials should know that crooks take on the protective coloration of respectable business men but instead of recognizing this fact and realizing that crooks are crooks and merely the hangers-on of decent business, decent business is attacked in the pulpits, in the magazines, in the public prints."

HOW KIWANIS GOT ITS NAME

Ah! The stories knew the longing That's hid in every heart; The craving for the big things, From world's great apart.

The hunter for the sunbeam Or the battles fought below; The wishing for the big work, Not "sometime," but now.

And they said, "The way to open This chest of dreams, come true, Is that the lay of friendship, Plus fun and service, too."

So they fashioned out of real men That key to wants fulfill; And gave it the name, "Kiwanis," And taught it the motto, "We Build."

WHAT'S KIWANIS?

It ain't the cats that brings us here, As well a hail of hay, As the finest spread of the epikuer— It's the spirit of the day.

It ain't the songs the fellers sing, Th' they give the blues the go; It ain't the jokes the fellers spring, Tho' they drive away the woe.

It's just the chance to do some good, To share somebody's tole; To show this gay old world "We Build," As we go along the rode.

What this country needs is heavy and water that will not itch

BOYD FORD, DISTRICT SECRETARY PAST THREE YEARS COMMENDS CLUBS ON YEAR'S ACCOMPLISHMENTS

Boyd Ford of Knoxville, secretary of the Kentucky District, was the first to hand for the convention. Mr. Ford has varied diligently for months to make the Middleboro convention the best and the most profitable in the district and to make it a most interesting and profitable one for all who attend. This is Mr. Ford's third consecutive term as district secretary. He took over the work when the district was composed of five clubs and, since then, through all the years, he has grown the district to its present size of 16 clubs and 1,000 members.

Mr. Ford has been a member of the Knoxville club for many years. He is married and has one daughter, Dorothy Anne, aged seven years. His home is in Knoxville, Tennessee. He is a member of the Woodlawn Cemetery Community, which is the largest in the district in membership. He is also a member of the Knoxville club, which is the largest in the district in membership.

Mr. Ford is a particularly active club worker. He is a member of the Knoxville club and the Y. M. C. A. He is interested in all things which lead toward better living and better health.

Following is Boyd Ford's report of the district activities during the year submitted to the convention this morning.

To the officers and members of the Kentucky Tennessee Kiwanis District Convention:

In presenting the annual report of my office, I shall refrain from going into details with tedious matters of slight interest to many of you. I shall deal with what I consider the most vital and important subjects which have been brought to the attention of the district by reason of official contact with the district officers and club reports, letters, visits, and personal interviews with many of our club members.

I would first impress upon you the fact of the widespread accomplishments of the district.

In reporting what I have termed "average club activity," such as better physical movements in better schools, good roads, white wash, rent is made for these actions are reported in our district bulletins. But I want to convey to you the fact that we have achieved the ideals for which Kiwanis stands.

Those of you present who have had to do with the making of your original club members into real substantial Kiwanians realize fully the arduous task confronting the district Kiwanians for the past three years.

The enthusiasm of the young club is followed by their period of relaxation, a time when they require expert care and no movement at all. It is to remain the dynamic force and fill their place in their community life for which they were chartered as a club.

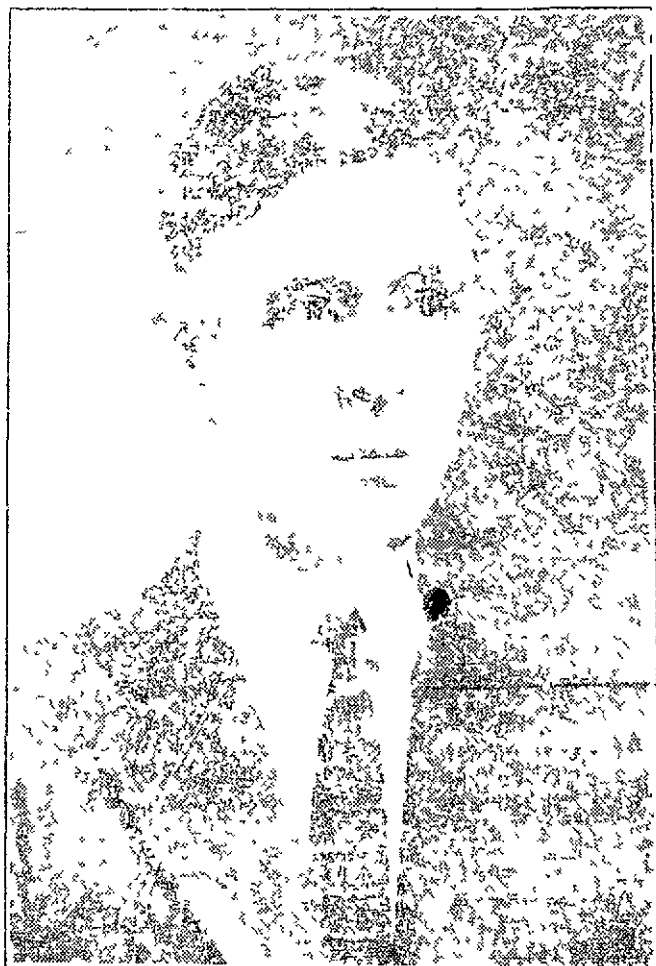

The very fact that our clubs have acquired a knowledge of the fundamentals of Kiwanis which, according to our authority, are: Initiative, Faith, Vision, Thrift, and Interest in the club. This is manifest in every monthly report coming to my office. With these fundamentals in the mind, the club is now in all respects a real club. It has become the driving force of the community objectives and more and more the club is becoming a real club.

We no longer find the club as a mere social gathering. It has become a real club, a club which is the driving force of the community objectives and more and more the club is becoming a real club. It has become a real club, a club which is the driving force of the community objectives and more and more the club is becoming a real club.

Kiwanis is the best thing that has happened to the community in many years. It has become a real club, a club which is the driving force of the community objectives and more and more the club is becoming a real club. It has become a real club, a club which is the driving force of the community objectives and more and more the club is becoming a real club.

The district and the clubs have made the district have achieved its purpose. It has become a real club, a club which is the driving force of the community objectives and more and more the club is becoming a real club. It has become a real club, a club which is the driving force of the community objectives and more and more the club is becoming a real club.

We will only effect one thing, and that is to make the district have achieved its purpose. It has become a real club, a club which is the driving force of the community objectives and more and more the club is becoming a real club. It has become a real club, a club which is the driving force of the community objectives and more and more the club is becoming a real club.

BOYD FORD

It is a pleasure to have the opportunity to report on the accomplishments of the district during the past year. The district has achieved many of its goals and objectives, and the clubs have made significant progress in their work. The district has been able to maintain its standards and to provide a high level of service to the community. The clubs have been able to attract new members and to provide a wide range of services to the community. Our Goals

I have to admit that the club has not been able to achieve all of its goals and objectives. There have been many challenges and obstacles, but the club has been able to overcome them and to continue its work. The club has been able to attract new members and to provide a wide range of services to the community. The club has been able to maintain its standards and to provide a high level of service to the community.

I want to thank you for your support and cooperation. It is because of your support and cooperation that the club has been able to achieve so much. I hope that you will continue to support and cooperate with the club in the future. I hope that you will continue to support and cooperate with the club in the future.

WHY? Because it's the biggest improvement in caps since caps began.

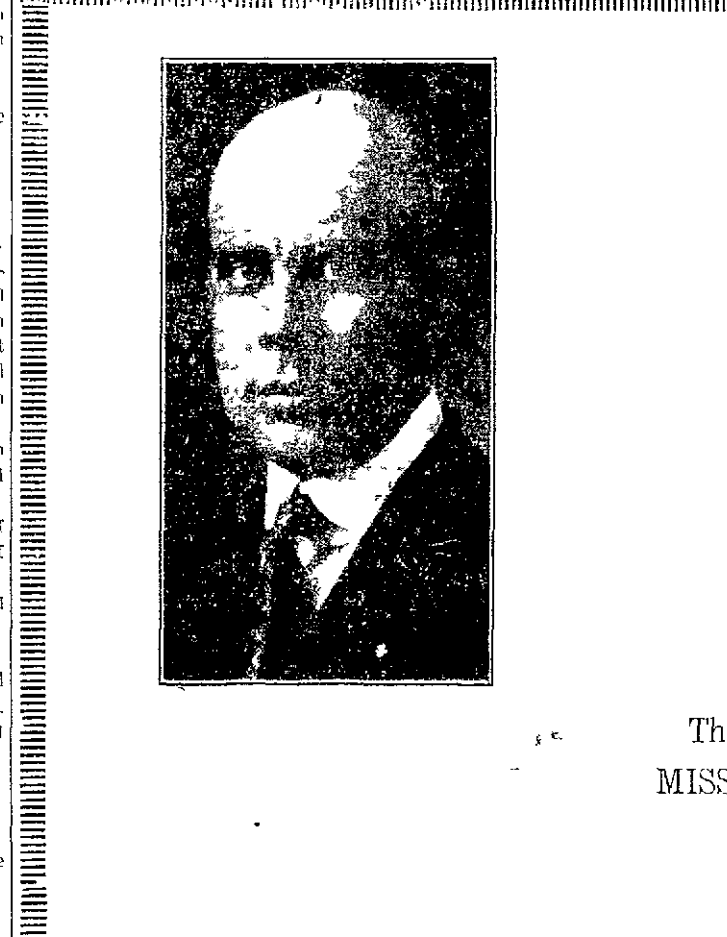

A snap and buckle concealed above the visor enables you to snug it in after a haircut or in the wind. And ease it out again if you want to.

It's the world's most comfortable cap. Yet it costs the same as any good cap. See it! The new Fall styles are now ready.

ATE PRESIDENT HARDING, KIWANIAN HIMSELF, CONSIDERED MOTTO, "WE OULD," GREATEST THING IN WORLD

The following speech was made to audience by President Warren G.
Harding who was, himself, a Kiwanian.

There is just as much menace in world today as there was in the absence of war. Civilization has not settled down.

I have been motoring this afternoon, and in the reflections of the road I found myself likening my travel to some of the problems of life. I discovered when the road is smooth we went along speedily and comfortably, and then occasionally we found spots so rough or out so thoroughly out of repair we had to detour, but I observed that just as quickly as we got back on the main highway.

I likened that to a very recent experience of government. The torn-condition of the world took us temporarily off the main forward track.

And it is the first business of people of the United States, of every one to get back on the main road again.

When I thought of another something similar parallel—when you build out that you expect humanity to go over you must not only build future use but you must communicate the up-to-date of the road.
I noticed one other—a highway modern travel is not good if it not have a perfect foundation.
There never has been a perfect road since modern civilizabegan if it did not have a good foundation.

Secondly, the biggest need of the in America, the biggest need of hour in all Europe, is to steady and take stock and to know we have drifted and to get our feet on the right track again.

Then, move on to future accomplishments and the triumph of civilization.

And the triumph of civilization is not think I am pessimistic, I tell you, my countrymen, there is as much of menace in the world as in 1918 was in the midst of trunk of war. Civilization has settled down again. There are in Europe today, threatened civil revolutions throughout the world; there is an assault of our inherited civilization and I want our country to steady down, to come to an understanding of our inheritance, and let America stand as a barrier against the onrush of revolution and destruction throughout the world."

The words which the President used, however, on the occasion of his induction into membership in the Marion, Ohio, Kiwanis Club comprise a sentence to which every Kiwanian can refer with justly pardonable pride. He told a group of two hundred Kiwanians who had assembled at the preliminary organization meeting of the Marion, Ohio, club this:

"If I can have with me in my work and life the spirit of Kiwanis, with its friendly cooperation, I shall have no fear of the morrow."

He later said to that same group in his seemingly confidential, half whimsical, half serious mood, other things, such as:

"Your motto, 'We Build' is the greatest thing in the world, but we must not only build, we must preserve. I like the boosting spirit and if I can have back of me, on the part of America, the Kiwanis spirit, I am confident of the morrow."

"I have been trying to organize a little Kiwanis club of my own. There are to be only ten members, but I am

BACK TO EARTH

When you kind of get the notion, You're the only one that is,
And you sail along in grandeur.

With a haughty sort of phiz:
When that distant sort of feeling Gets a clutch and takes a hold,
And the friends that once admired you

Wonder why you're growing cold;
When a high-falting feeling
Sort of gets your goat—why then,
Just reverse your airship levers

And come back to earth again.

When you've lost your words of welcome

And the smile that used to cheer:
When you seem to be a dwelling
In a upper atmosphere:

When the troubles of your fellows
Never seem to take a grip,
And drift along at leisure
In your mental aeroplane:

When that all-important feeling Gets you in its grasp—why then
Just reverse your airship levers
And come back to earth again

And come back to earth again.

INTEGRITY

COMPARE

The Maximum of Proved vs. Many Extravagant Claims
Intrinsic Value of Superiority

SO many announcements of new model cars contain extravagant claims for the same superiorities that it is puzzling to the buyer to know which value is real and which is only a claim.

This year the issue has been conf. sed by the introduction of mechanical changes, some of which have been rushed into production while still in the experimental stage—and then immediately given wide publicity.

Important considerations have been overlooked and great stress placed upon unimportant details.

But the man who intends to buy a motor car need not let this confusion or this glamour of publicity lead him to make a mistake or risk satisfaction in his purchase. The automobile themselves are available for comparison.

See and be convinced. Riding is believing.

As an aid to intelligent buying we offer the following suggestions:

Place the 1924 model Studebaker Light-Six Touring Car at $995 alongside any car you may select as belonging in the same class. Every car looks well in the pictures—most cars make a good impression in their own show windows.
The Studebaker Light-Six looks a winner alongside the best-looking competitor you can find.
And it's larger, more substantial, roomier, more comfortable looking—and is more comfortable.

Compare the top. Look inside and out. The Studebaker top is sturdily built. Has four stout cross bars. Top material is same as is so satisfactorily used in the Big-Six. Notice the fit, feel the quality. The rear curtain is one-piece—has no seams—with a large rectangular window bound by an enameled moulding.

Compare the body. Studebaker has a roomy, substantial, carefully made body—all steel even to its framework, which permits a finish in baked enamel. A depressed belt line runs around the body and through the hood and radiator, adding to its distinctive appearance.

Compare the one-piece, rain-proof windshield, with built-in cowl lamps, with the ordinary two-piece windshield with rubber strip that leaks in every rain and always obstructs the driver's vision. Notice the large cowl ventilator that is quickly operated by merely moving the regulator backward or forward.

Compare the Studebaker door trimmings and fittings with the door trimmings of other cars.
Notice that the door pocket flaps have weights to hold them in position. Man-sized door handles and latches, positive-action door locks that catch with a snap and stay closed. Heavy hinges properly located and proportioned.
Highest grade trimmings material instead of painted cardboard. Fastening nails concealed.

Compare the aluminum-bound hardware that is neatly fitted and fastened to the floor boards of this $995 Studebaker Light-Six with the rubber mats that cover the cheap, loosely-fitted floor boards in many other cars.

Compare the cheap robe rail (sometimes hemp rope covered with imitation leather) with the Studebaker nickel-plated rail. Compare the four-cent footrest with the comfortable, carpet-covered footrest, supported by polished aluminum brackets in the Studebaker.

These comparisons are of features that can be seen. There are many more down under the surface that could be mentioned, such as the machining of all surfaces of the crankshaft and connecting rods of the Light-Six motor. This is largely responsible for the practical absence of vibration in the Studebaker Light-Six. This is an exclusive Studebaker practice on cars at this price.

If competition is so far inferior in its visible parts, it is a certainty that the hidden parts which really determine the satisfaction of a car will be equally inferior.

The Studebaker chassis is as far superior to any other motor car chassis in its price field as Studebaker upholstery is to any other upholstery, as the Studebaker body is to any other motor car body in its price field.

Come in and see the Light-Six. Test its performance and comfort yourself. Again—Riding is believing.
